Introduction to the Creative Potential Natal Report

The Earth-centered chart has been the standard in astrological interpretation since the beginning. Your horoscope addresses every area of your personal life: it describes your personality and character, your work, love life, family, children, financial affairs, education, friends, social status, and private life. It reflects tendencies in health and creativity as well as travel and religion. Whatever question you may have, an astrologer can find some answers in the geocentric chart. Some factors in the report depend on an accurate birth time. If you don't know your birth time, then any interpretations relating to houses have less accuracy.

Introduction to Signs

The signs provide the background for the movement of planets and moons. From our point of view, they provide twelve filters for the light of the planets and moons and modify or focus those energies.

Introduction to Degree Divisions of Signs

Each sign of the zodiac may be divided into equal segments, and each segment describes something of the nature of the planet in that part of the sign. The Quad divides the sign into four equal parts. This placement identifies key traits of the planet that focus on your worldview in terms of personal, family, community and humanitarian issues. Decanates are three segments of ten degrees each. These divisions speak to the mental expression of energy, just as the signs themselves express most directly on the physical plane. Dwads divide the sign into twelve segments, and these segments suggest a developmental quality of the planet as it expresses emotional and spiritual facets of your personality. Degree divisions refine the above considerations even further.

Your interpretation provides keys and interpretations for the quad, decanate and dwad divisions. The key for each degree indicates a fundamental factor at play for the planet and the natural direction that energy moves.

Introduction to Aspects

An aspect is the angular relationship between two points in a chart. Different aspects indicate different influences between the planets. Thus one person with the Sun in square aspect to Jupiter will have a very different energetic experience from a person with the Sun trine to Jupiter.

Introduction to Key Phrases

As a human being, intelligent activity is your birthright. It is demonstrated through creativity; this reading will consider your own creative potential and processes. The keywords and upper harmonic moons and asteroids throughout the report come from SELF EVIDENT ASTROLOGY(tm). The upper harmonics reveal multiple possibilities for the potential contained in the planet's energies.

You may notice repeated text in your report: it indicates an area of your life that is in high focus. The planets or upper harmonics involved reflect the specific qualities you can develop and use in that area of life.

Sun Introduction

THE LIGHTS: SUN AND MOON

A key to understanding the Sun and Moon is to remember that human beings, by nature of their physical existence, polarize all experience. What does this mean? To hear, you must be able to interpret variations in sound waves. To see, you must be able to interpret shades of color amid light and dark. To feel heat/cold, hard/soft, or light/heavy, you must be able to discern differences. Because you perceive dualities through your own personal filters, you will never perceive a situation or thing exactly the way someone else perceives it. However, you do have internal consistency where perceptions are concerned.

Even though you know that the Sun is immense in size, when you look at the sky, the Moon appears to be the same size. The Sun and Moon reflect equal parts of your experience. The Sun reflects the conscious center of the psyche—the primary focal point of your ambition and life mission. The Moon tells you about your less conscious side. Your most pressing agendas in life arise from the unconscious mind. Often unbidden, sometimes unwanted, these urges drive you forward in life. On the positive side, the inner voice is always with you, it never deserts you, and it continues to speak, even when you don't listen. But when you do listen, there is a wealth of encouragement and guidance at your disposal.

The Sun

The Sun represents the direction of your personal mission and spiritual path. The Sun is the source of life, and as such it is one of the most powerful point in the chart. The Sun's placement provides a focus for the conscious experience of your energy. Your Sun sign shows the direction of your energy -- the thrust of your individuality. The house shows where you will exert your energy and where vitality will express most naturally.

Sun in Aquarius

The Sun in Aquarius focuses attention on a more universal level. It is here that we experience a synthesis of all that has gone before and a preparation for the expansion of group awareness into the service of the world. The present Age of Aquarius indeed addresses the profound need for service, on the part of humanity, to the larger reality.

It is the desire to serve that can be found in Aquarius. At present we observe this growing desire to serve, with a concurrent lessening of the desire to ownership. The concept of stewardship of the planet Earth is growing geometrically as people engage their minds in the search for practical solutions to physical problems. It is the desire to change that will have a creative, ameliorative effect on the material condition.

SUMMARY

Now that you have seen your birth report, you are probably somewhat stunned by the variety and number of astrological indicators you can consider. To help you get a grasp of the overall picture, we have included the following information that gathers together the main factors in your chart.

You may have perceived repeated themes in the interpretations of planets in signs, decanates, quads, dwads and aspects as you read your interpretation. The emphasis on certain themes in your life is reflected in the repetitions in your interpretation.

Decanate 3

Life, for you, is all about results. You get the most satisfaction when you finish things. You like the end game where all the pieces come together. While you can come up with ideas, get things started, and do the work, you relish the moment of completion, and even the moment after completion, when you get to see how your results play out with other people.

As you go back and read about the decanate placements in your chart, notice which kinds of energy are best suited to finishing work or play tasks, and also consider which energies help you to come up with ideas for new projects or to persist in the work so you can have the glorious conclusions you so desire.

Quad 2

Your life focuses on family. While other areas of life demand some attention, you always return to family considerations in the end. You don't have to be a homebody! You do find, though, that you often think about home and each family member when you are at work or traveling.

Each time you read about a planet in Quad 2, you see the desires and contentment to be found in family activities and interests. Planets in other quads tell about other facets of your life that add sparkle to your intense focus on family and cultural heritage.

Dwad 4

With many planets in degrees 7 1/2 to 10, you enjoy the fact that you experience deep feelings in connection with your activities. You like to have time to identify your feelings before you share them with others, and you often judge success or failure on the basis of the feelings aroused.

Element Air

With an abundance of planets in air signs, you make good use of your intelligence. You are mentally alert and skilled in communication. Generally diplomatic, you occasionally go off on a tangent, leaving others to wonder what you may be thinking! You relish educational activities and may become a good teacher as well as student. You could become a powerful motivational speaker, and your style makes you a good team leader as well.

Mode Fixed

With an abundance of planets in fixed signs, you are somewhat resistant to change. You are able to persist in your effort to get things done, but given a choice, you might opt for the status quo. You are emotionally attached to your present environment and firm in decisions you make. Once you identify a goal, you are tenacious in pursuing it. You usually have a reserve of emotional and physical energy.

Aspect Elements Air & Fire

In your chart you have more aspects connecting Fire and Air signs.

The aspect link between planets in fire and air signs indicates compatibility between creative impulse and the thought that can move the impulse toward material expression. Fire thrives on air, combining it with heat and fuel to produce greater heat. Creativity thrives on constructive thought, combining it with seed urges that then grow in scope and potential.

Fire is expressed through one's individuality. Air represents the wide variety of communication styles and vehicles. Aspects from fire to air signs present situations through which you gain awareness of the relationship between individuality and the larger group - between Self and Other.

Fire is created by friction between objects. Aspects between fire and air signs reveal powerful relationships between energies that permit us to grasp the creative impulse and communicate it into the world.

Aspect square

When an abundance of squares, you find that you face challenges and obstacles in very direct ways. You learn your interactive style from family, teachers and peers, but you face challenges alone. At least you feel alone. Actually, you bring all your family and cultural wisdom to bear in each situation, and you achieve success largely because of the strength of family and history.
